

Everyone, Everywhere

"One thing I've learned in my years patrolling the highways is that there's always more going on than what you see. Training and protection can keep you alive on this job.

Knowing about sun safety is no different. For example, I learned recently that some UV rays can pass through auto glass.

Now I wear sunscreen and lip balm of SPF 30 every day, even if I spend most of my work day in my squad car."

-Patrice

